FINDING FAITH WHEN YOU'RE FEELING FILLED WITH DOUBTS

Are you having trouble trusting the process? You are not alone. Today we would like to focus your attention upon trusting the process of your desired manifested goals. We will use the analogy of a bow and arrow to signify the energy that would be most relevant in this discussion. Just as you would pull a bow string back and set your sight on the target you wish to hit, and then release the bow which would then launch the arrow towards the desired destination many of you are in the midst of this very same process.

Any time you are met with any kind of negative circumstance it can be used to help you better recognize your desired outcomes and get clear about the goals you intended to accomplish. Once you have the desired target in mind you could liken this time to the act of letting the arrow go. The discomfort that many of you feel wells up simply because the arrow is no longer in your possession and yet it has not reached its destination either. This is when trusting the process is imperative.

So we would like to take this time to soften those discomforts, to ease the distress by reminding you that everything is exactly as it should be. Each of you have deliberately molded your passions, your interests, your goals and dreams in more detail than ever before. You have taken a laser focus upon where you want this proverbial arrow to land. The time has now come to let go of your arrow and trust that all is being delivered to you. You have done much of the ground work; you have used your discernment to better navigate towards what you want to create going forward.

We remind you that there is always so much going on behind the scenes, far past what the 5 physical senses can detect, that if you can rely more heavily upon your intuitive senses you will feel the energy that has been set in motion. And this is why we say, we remind you to trust in this process.

Once an archer has pulled his bow back, and taken aim with precision he must let the arrow fly, trusting that he has set the coordinates accurately and now it is up to gravity to pull the arrow into place. And so it is with all of you.

The logical mind cannot conjure anything it has not yet witnessed. That is the realm of your imagination, where dreams are created. Silence your mind, and feel for the realness of your desire in your mind to reassure yourself that it is already done.

Now it is time to let go and watch the wondrous Universe pull your dreams and goals into the physical and so we encourage you to trust in this process.

We hope that we have served you in some way.

In love and light, we are your Angelic Guides
